Episcopal Church Women (ECW)

In March, about 20 ladies enjoyed fellowship and good food at Barlee's restaurant in Shoreline. Sallie Shippen, retired priest from Oregon and St. Alban's member, shared with us her beginnings as the first female priest at Grace Church in Oregon. It was enlightening to see the struggles and handicaps she had to overcome in the beginning of her career. We were blessed to have her join our congregation and share her many talents. She closed the meeting with the Lord's prayer, which she had learned to do in sign language in Oregon. A special surprise visit came from Lynne Christensen, a former member of St. Alban's. She and her husband are traveling around America in a motor home!

In April, over 38 ladies joined the pasta potluck dinner and enjoyed the presentation from Sarah Leech and Coleen Grove about World Concern (see more info below).

Presentation on Human Trafficking

On April 15th, St. Alban's Episcopal Church Women (ECW) welcomed speakers from World Concern on the subject of human trafficking. Coleen Grove and our own Sarah Leech provided an informative and moving presentation about how women and children worldwide fall prey to traffickers due to poverty, deception and desperation. The realities of trafficking are bleak indeed, but God is raising up impassioned people around the world who are combating this modern day slave trade. Through rescue, preventive education, poverty-alleviation programs, anti-trafficking legislation and prosecution of perpetrators, these volunteers are saving lives and taking important steps to make women and children less vulnerable to trafficking and abuse.

Coleen and Sarah described World Concern's Women of Purpose Program, which equips and engages volunteers in preventing the exploitation and trafficking of women and children. There was an opportunity to contribute, or to consider participating in more outreach through Women of Purpose. There may be a group forming soon at St. Albans to learn more about trafficking through a book study.

For more information about Women of Purpose, visit www.worldconcern.org, or contact Coleen Grove 206-546-7524 or Sarah Leech 425-582-2282.

Sunday Worship

8:00 a.m. Holy Communion, Rite I
 10:00 a.m. Nursery Open
 10:30 a.m. Sunday School
 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion, Rite II

From the Rector's Study

In the second chapter of Acts, all the followers of Jesus gather under one roof. They are filled with the Holy Spirit and begin to speak in other languages. A crowd gathers.

To their astonishment, "each one heard them speaking in his own language." They exclaim to one another, "in our own languages we hear them speaking about God's deeds of power."

The disciples were given the Holy Spirit - to enable them to proclaim the good news to all the peoples of the earth. Each person there - from wherever they hailed - heard about what God is doing in Jesus in their own mother tongue.

As we begin the season of Pentecost, we affirm our own faith commitment through the baptismal vows. We affirm them either together with newly baptized members of our congregation or simply all together as a people of God.

Then we begin to look outward. We reach out, to share the gospel of Jesus with the people among whom we live and are called to serve.

In our outreach to our community and into the world beyond, our vision must include both the Great Commandment - love of God and of neighbor (Mark 12:28-34) - and the Great Commission - making disciples of all nations (Matthew 28:19-20).

On the Sunday following Pentecost, the Rev. Jerry Shigaki and Ms. Carla Robinson from the diocesan ethnic ministries office, will celebrate and preach at St. Alban's, and share with us some insights into how we can both share and embody the good news of Jesus Christ as the people of God called together in Edmonds.

In the weeks and months ahead, we will have numerous opportunities to celebrate together as a community - to celebrate the accomplishments of graduating students, to honor the work of ministries among us, and to recognize the callings that take us far beyond parish bounds, out into the world that God made, God saves, and God loves.

"Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything that I have commanded you. And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age." (Matthew 28:19-20)

The New Conspirators: Creating the Future One Mustard Seed at a Time

submitted by Maryellen Young

Tom Sine has a new book that has recently been released called The New Conspirators: Creating the Future One Mustard Seed at a Time. In this book he offers an insightful look into the rapidly changing face of the church in the twenty-first century. Tom presents us with helpful and hopeful overview of new faith expressions and weaves them together to give an emerging image of what the future could look like.

On Wednesday, May 14th at 7:00 p.m., there will be a joint event with the Edmonds Lutheran Church (23525 84th Ave West) where you will have an opportunity to hear Tom talk about his book and purchase an autographed copy. We'll be inviting the other Edmonds area churches to join us. Consider starting the evening by eating dinner together at Annie's Kitchen from 5:00-6:30 p.m., an example of a church reaching out to make a difference in the community.

Prayer Shawl Ministry

Prayer shawls are usually knitted or crocheted with acrylic or wool yarns and the creator is committed to praying for the recipient while making the shawl or small blanket. Prayer shawls can be made for a specific person or for anyone in need of comfort.

Each prayer shawl is given a special blessing by a priest before it is given to the recipient. Each has a card enclosed so that the person receiving it knows that it was especially created and blessed with prayer for their comfort.

People who have received prayer shawls have told us that they have been a wonderful blessing to them.

Father John will be blessing our prayer shawls once a month and then any available shawls will be in a basket in the parish hall. You are encouraged to take a shawl for yourself or a friend in need.

If you have any questions, contact Susan Bailey at 425-259-4111.

Youth Prod Bishop for Answers about the Next Generation

The St. Alban's Youth Group made a trip to the Washington Athletic Club in downtown Seattle to attend the Business of God program presented by the Church Divinity School of the Pacific (CDSP). The keynote address of this program was entitled, The Next Generation: Conversations with Our Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori.

An often-stated goal of the evening was to engage youth and young adults in a conversation with the Presiding Bishop regarding topics of faith that are a concern to their generation. To focus and encourage youth participation, no one over the age of 35 was admitted unless they were accompanied by one or more individuals under the age of 35. The St. Alban's attendees were Patrick Greenlaw, Emily Bee, Meridith Bee, Barb McClain, and Ben Johnson.

Patrick

The evening began with a quick welcome by Bishop Greg Rickel and then transitioned to Bishop Suffragan Nedi Rivera who introduced Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori. The Presiding Bishop's lecture discussed healing the world by reconciling it to God through Jesus Christ. She promoted creative thinking in getting beyond parish walls for worship and fellowship in order to minister to the world by example. Above all, she encouraged the youth, specifically 18 and under, to "prod" their leaders in regards to the change they envision for the church.

Presiding Bishop Katharine Jefferts Schori

Once the Presiding Bishop was finished speaking, a good portion of the evening was then given over to the youth to take the floor for a Q&A session with her. Examples of questions and answers that were put forth are paraphrased below:

Q: How can we incorporate contemporary Christian music into the service?

A: Prod your music leaders for change.

Q: What are other ways to study the Bible for youth that don't find Bible stories relevant for their lives?

A: Find other books with Christian values and refer back to the Bible for validation.

Bishop Greg Rickel

Q: What actions can parishes take to get involved in healing creation (the environment)?

A: Check out www.earthministry.org.

Q: How can we minister to kids before they become "at risk kids"?

A: What is your parish doing for kids after school, during spring break, during summer vacation, or whenever kids may be looking for something to do?

Emily, Meridith & Barb

Overall, the discussions of the evening allowed the attendees to head home feeling empowered, important, and thinking about how they can improve their church and communities. If you want to know more about the evening, prod one of the St. Alban's Youth Group attendees to sit down with you and discuss their experience.

The Collects of the Church Year

(From "Opening the Treasures of the Prayer Book" by Canon Grant Carey):

Each Sunday of the Christian year has a special prayer that "collects" the thought characterizing that particular day in the Church Year. In addition, there are collects for special days and occasions throughout the year.

A collect has four parts, making it quite simple to construct a prayer appropriate for any occasion: First comes the salutation. It may be as simple as, "Almighty God." This is usually followed by stating an attribute of God, for example: "You are with us always, at all times and in all places." Next comes the purpose of the prayer: "Be with us this day to guard and protect us on our journey." A conclusion wraps up our prayer and may be as simple as, "this we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Read through the collects found on pages 159 through 264 in the prayer-book, highlighting those that speak especially to you, and then make them your own. Note also that there are many collects throughout the Book of Common Prayer, in addition to prayers that follow other forms, such as the much-loved prayer attributed to St. Francis, "Make me an instrument of your peace....," found on page 833. Why not write some collects of your own?

Give a net. Save a life.

Did you realize that over 300 million people a year contract malaria, with 1 million of them dying, most of them African children? Yet by sleeping under a malaria net, children and adults are protected from the mosquitoes which cause malaria. Episcopal Relief and Development (ERD), has created a NetsforLife program.

For a donation of $12 you can provide a net. This donation includes the cost of distributing the nets, educating each person on how to use the net, and follow-up later to ensure the nets are being used, and used properly. All that for $12 for a net which lasts 5 years.

There are two ways to purchase a net:

- Pick up a form in the church entryway. Fill out the form and return it to the church with your check payable to St. Alban's. Note that it is for "NetsforLife." You will receive a gift card in response to your contribution. If you'd like to give your gift in someone's name, be sure to indicate that your contribution is for a gift so that the card will be sent to you so that you can mail the gift card to the person.
- Make an online donation at www.er-d.org. Look for the "Ways to Donate" link, select "Donate Now," then in the pull-down menu choose "Malaria Fund/NetsforLife." (maybe your employer will match your donation).

Easter Egg Hunt

As many of you know, The Easter Egg Hunt this year was put on by the youth group under the leadership of the assistant youth leader, Melissa Hicks. I'm pleased to say that this year's hunt was a huge success. We received numerous compliments from parents and other church members about how much fun this event was despite the bad weather.

All are to be commended for their help and involvement in making this event so wonderful for the children. The youth would especially like to thank: John and Christine Greenlaw, Kati, Cameron, and Morgan Johnson for their help with egg stuffing and event set-up. We are enthusiastically looking forward to next year's Easter Egg Hunt and appreciate all of the donations that were given this year.

How often has humor gotten you through a difficult situation? As I was thinking about this, I remembered a specific time in my life that could have been disastrous without it. That day in 1996 had started out well; after all, I was on my way to Israel, the Holy land, fulfilling a long standing dream of mine to walk where Jesus walked. Our tour group flew from Seattle to New York without incident, so we expected our good fortune to continue. But at JFK an unexpected adventure began.

At the terminal at El Al Airlines we were put in a queue in a room packed full of people. We waited for over four hours without food or drink, or even a place to sit down. The line moved very slowly, but we weren't worried. After all, we had reserved seats. We could see that as each person got closer to the head of the line, they were being interrogated for 10-30 minutes. But we reasoned that was important for our safety, so we weren't worried.

Finally, our little group of seven was next in line for boarding. Things were looking good, until surprisingly we were told that boarding was closed! The rest of us would be held over until morning along with members of other tour groups. We were in total shock! We were not only separated from the rest of our tour group, but we would miss the first day of our tour! The $400 they offered us as compensation was of little comfort, but we just had to accept the fact that it was out of our control.

After a couple of hours they put us on a bus to Newark, NJ. There was a total of 25 very weary and disappointed people packed together, not knowing what to expect. I sat next to a young expectant mother. She confided that she hoped the trip wouldn't be too long because there wasn't a bathroom on the bus. She also told me that she and her husband smuggled Bibles into mainland China the summer before. Her husband and his friend kept us entertained on what turned out to be a very long bus ride in the middle of the night, arriving at our hotel at 4 a.m.

Aside from the fact that we were slapping happy at that time of the night, and in spite of the fact that there wasn't much humor in our situation, those two young men kept up a running dialogue that had us in stitches, laughing and laughing the whole trip. Here are some examples of their humor: (1) We've all been duped. The tour company takes you to El Al, puts you on a bus and you just drive around and around endlessly, going nowhere. We'll all be interviewed on 20/20 next week! (2) We're in the Twilight Zone. Steven Spielberg will appear any minute! (3) We're going to Israel by Bus! (4) They're going to make a movie about this. It will be a sequel to "Speed." It will be titled "Slow."

Yes, humor turned what could have been a horrible experience into a memorable one. I think the Lord would like us all to lighten up a bit and let Him show us a better way. When I think of my trip to Israel now, I always remember that bus ride and it still makes me laugh!

St. Alban's Financial Update

from John Greenlaw

Thank you for your generous donations during this past Easter month. March contributions were $17,745 and expenses equal $14,112 with a net contribution over expenses of $3,632. Because Easter came a month earlier than usual, the contributions budgeted for March were understated and it looks like we had a 29% jump in contributions. Usually we would collect these contributions during the month of April. Please note that this will average out by the end of April when we budgeted higher contributions.

The year-to-date contributions of $45,816 is actually higher than the budgeted amount of $42,215 however, expenses of $48,371 are also running higher than the budgeted amount of $44,864 resulting in expenses exceeding contributions by $2,555.

Inside the Vestry—

from Carrie Cone, Sr. Warden

On Thursday, April 3, 2008, your Vestry met. Those present included Vestry members: Phyllis Becker, John Bee, Carrie Cone, Phil McClelland, Erin Munday, Susie Nichols, Barbara McLain, Gaylord Sisk, Jeannie Wells, Shirley Wilson, and the Rev. John Leech. Clerk Darla Lane was out of town so Erin Munday agreed to take minutes.

A number of Commission reports and discussions took place during the meeting, including: a discussion about the original purpose and current uses of the Annex from the Christian Education liaisons, a report on a couple of all-parish events that are in the planning (stay tuned) from one of the Pastoral Care/Parish life liaisons, and some buildings and grounds needs from one of the Stewardship liaisons.

Actions taken by the Vestry at this meeting included approving $5,000 from the memorial funds (restricted for certain uses) for upgrading the church's sound system. Junior Warden Phil McClelland is coordinating this project.

The Vestry invites parishioners to prayer for our new Rector, John Leech, and the Vestry as they conduct the affairs of St. Albans and for the parish as a whole as we together walk with Christ down this new road He is preparing for us. We encourage all at St. Alban's to seek God's guidance as we move faithfully and prayerfully into the future He intends for this parish, praying that our eyes, ears, and hearts will be open to His leading and that we seek His will first, rather than our own. Respectfully submitted by Senior Warden Carrie Cone, who can be reached at 206-367-7402 or cmcone@u.washington.edu.

As part of our Lenten Celtic study, participants were given an assignment to write a Celtic prayer. Some characteristics of Celtic prayers are a focus on the Trinity, seeing God in nature and praying as part of all aspects of daily life. They would like to share their offerings with the rest of the congregation (submissions are anonymous).

Creator, Redeemer, & Sustainer

Thank you for the gift of swimming.

You are in the water.

You are in strokes and kicks

As I move my body through the blessed water,

For the sounds of children's voices,

As I lift my head for breath,

Thank you God for rhythmic breathing as I swim.

Thank you God for swimming pools, for lakes, for bays, seas and ocean waves.

Thank you God for swimming,

For healing that allows me to keep on swimming.

Amen

Something's Brewing: A Possible Book Group

How would you like to gather with inquiring and interesting friends to talk about books we are all reading together? Several St. Albanites have started thinking about forming a book group. Possible starting month: September. We could look at a variety of topic areas, such as current affairs, spiritual life, stories of local interest, or stories from places currently in the news, to name a few. One idea that has generated some recent interest is to study a book on human trafficking, such as Not For Sale by David Batstone (Harper Collins) or Terrify No More by Gary A. Haugen. Do you have some suggestions? Pass them along to Maryellen Young, 425-776-2461 or Sarah Leech, 425-582-2282.
